MISS AJAZI

I have kept busy these past few weeks with many activities. I have started to learn sign language and can now not only say the colours in French, but also in sign language. I challenged my whole family to see who can complete a 200 piece puzzle in the shortest amount of time and guess who won? ME! As usual! I consider myself an amazing dancer but I found it strange that I didn't recognise any of the dance routines some of you did on the playground. You told me it was Tik Tok. Because of that, I tasked myself to learn some Tik Tok dances so I can join you on the playground. Obviously I'll be centre stage. All the energy I used during the mornings, meant that I could unwind in the evenings with a cup of tea, biscuits and a Disney film. I can't wait to hear how your weeks have gone and to see all the exciting work that you have done with your family. I'm always reading your comments and checking the work you do online. X

MISS SMYTH

I have been kept busy the last couple of weeks by my labradoodle Mia, she has loved having me home to walk her around the woods and it has helped to keep me fit whilst I cannot get out in the dragon boat! Although Mia was less impressed with the new additions...you may recognise Peanut Butter & Toast! I have been lucky enough to have seen a couple of you at school when I have been in, and you will know that I signed up to Disney Plus so that we could watch Hercules. Well, I have to confess I still have Disney Plus and may have watching a film every night at home...my guilty secret! I have also been kept very busy by Tik Tok...no not by learning the dances, but by watching all of Miss Ajazi's dances that she sends to me! (Don't worry, you'll still beat her...!!) I can't wait to see you all again and login daily to see what you have been up to! Miss you! X

MRS BRAINE

I just wanted to let you know what I've been up to during the last few weeks. I start my day catching up with my children and 7 grandchildren, although I can't be with them I enjoy watching videos they send me of activities they have done at home, talking to them through face time and reading the little ones bed time stories. Then it is time for my boring day to day chores. I have managed to fit in some violin warm ups and even added a few moves of my own ,as part of my daily exercise ,followed by a little rest and a cuppa. I do miss our little chats of your achievements and all the eventful things you do outside of school. I hope you're having fun times at home and staying safe please keep smiling. Miss you all. X

MS MURRAY

Well, what a strange few weeks this is turning out to be. I guess it's all a bit weird for you, too, but at least, as the song goes, "We're all in this together" - let's not forget that. It's been nice to spend some time in the garden, listening to the birds and watching my tortoises enjoy the sunny weather - yes, they've come out of hibernation! Like you, I'm finding it different to not be able to see my family and loved ones but how lucky are we to have the wonders of the internet, so I can still see them and chat with them. I'm saving up all the hugs. There are times when it would be good to hear you, reading to me... or even telling me your corny jokes! You could always write them down, to tell me when we're back at school. I've done some knitting and lots of baking and cooking. I hope you've spent quality time with your loved ones. Make sure you give them lots of hugs as we all need them. Sending you virtual hugs X

BREAKING NEWS:

We miss you very much! Stay safe, be good and HAPPY EASTER! ☺
